POLAR CROSSING HALTED

LATEST NEWS

1st JULY

Due to a crevasse field stretching up to 100km the Team have made the brave decision to halt the winter crossing of Antarctica. The Team will now focus their efforts on the scientific & educational goals.

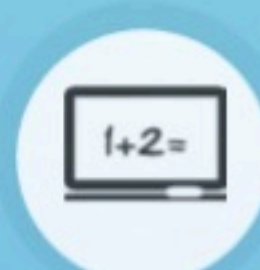

WHAT LIES AHEAD?

The Ice Team will have to wait out the winter period before making their way home. They still have a lot to achieve however. There are many scientific objectives to be carried out, which we shall share with you as they happen.

WHAT ELSE IS HAPPENING?

The Ice Team are also continuing with their medical commitments - Blood samples are currently being taken for the White Mars Project. Further tests will be conducted throughout the winter period.
